Expertise and Empathy

Driven by passion and backed by extensive experience across audits, collections, appeals, and abatement, the award-winning attorneys at Boruchov, Gabovich & Associates, P.C., deliver intelligent tax resolution solutions that get results.

A highly sought-after professional in income sales tax and residency audits, Gabovich deftly resolves outstanding tax obligations and collection matters. He leverages his unique experience as a former litigator for the New York State Tax Department to skillfully represent individual and business clients.

"I cut my teeth working at one of the largest tax departments in the country, and I witnessed the full extent of the issues taxpayers face," he says. "Having been on the other side, I know how audits are handled." The firm's familiarity with city, state, and federal jurisdictions puts clients at an advantage, particularly in high-stakes cases that require skillful negotiations.

That's where Boruchov excels. With ample experience in complex tax controversy matters, she facilitates the release of levies, liens, and suspensions. Boruchov resolves a large number of cases through the Offer in Compromise program, helping taxpayers get out of tax debt with a fresh start. "We've abated millions of dollars in tax, interest, and penalties and even made Offers in Compromise in cases where the Department of Justice already made a judgment against taxpayers and were threatening to foreclose on their property," says Boruchov, who also handles innocent spouse relief cases.

"We take a collaborative approach that employs our team's extensive experience and knowledge," Gabovich explains.

At Boruchov, Gabovich & Associates, P.C., white-glove service ensures personalized representation and dedicated attention for every client. "We pride ourselves on always being available, answering any questions, and keeping clients fully informed as we gently guide them through the resolution process," says Boruchov.
