Natalie R. Lynch is a business and employment law attorney in Austin, Texas who has demonstrated expertise in workplace investigations, workplace employment law, and entity formations. Having lived abroad in both Ghana and Spain, Natalie brings unique perspectives to helping companies conduct business.

Credentialed through the Association of Workplace Investigators (AWI), Natalie is the only consulting and credentialed expert in Central Texas who conducts investigations into allegations of harassment, discrimination, hostile work environment, and other issues. As one of the first holders of AWI's certificates, her methods, techniques, and skills make the ROI and defensibility of your workplace investigations outstanding.

I believe in using the best practices to get the best results. Simple as that.

Natalie's business background, coupled with a solution-focused, no-nonsense approach, enables her to excel at business formation, transactional matters, employment law, workplace discrimination matters, contracts, and employment litigation avoidance.

Natalie is a business owner. She received her undergraduate degree in international studies from Texas A&M University and J.D. from South Texas College of Law, subsequently studying at the University of Denver. She is licensed to practice law in Texas, Wyoming, and Colorado and holds Women-Owned Business (WBE), Minority-Owned Business (MBE), and Historically Under-Utilized Business (HUB) certifications. Natalie strongly believes that animals should be treated with respect and contributes her time and resources to improving the welfare of animals with the Texas Humane Legislative Network.
