As a state attorney for 15 years, Ryan managed criminal matters that included everything from high-profile murders to heart-wrenching child abuse and sex trafficking cases. This day-in and day-out experience of handling a wide variety of complex cases required him to be a quick study and exposed him to a vast network of attorneys, judges, and experts offering technical and detailed testimony.

Intensive on-the-job training left Ryan with the ability to effectively navigate the complexities of the court system, while boldly representing his litigation clients on the grounds of what is fair, just, right, and good.
